EXPLORATION WORK UNDERWAY ON BEARTOOTH PROPERTY

Montreal – July 24th , 2006 – Ditem Explorations (TSX-V:DIT) announces that exploration is underway on the Beartooth uranium property in Saskatchewan (Athabasca Basin).

Ditem has retained Fugro Airborne Surveys to conduct the airborne survey over the Beartooth Island Prospect, situated in the Athabasca Basin, Saskatchewan. The MEGATEM® II survey will consist of 1156 line kilometres and will cover the entire property, including the island and surrounding portions of Lake Athabasca. The property-scale, high-resolution and deep penetrating electromagnetic-magnetic survey is expected to define major structural features and conductive zones normally associated with uranium deposits found elsewhere in the Athabasca Basin. A number of such unconformity-type uranium occurrences are known in this part of the Athabasca Basin region, such as the undeveloped Maurice Bay deposit to the northwest of Beartooth Island (currently owned by Cameco).

The objective of the airborne survey will be to prioritize favourable geophysical targets for detailed ground follow-up, including marine seismic surveys, and if warranted, drill testing of potentially defined targets. Ditem anticipates that the follow up work will be conducted as quickly thereafter as possible.

The Beartooth Property was optioned from Golden Valley Mines (TSX-V:GZZ). Background information about the geology and historic exploration have been described in the Company's news releases dated January 20, 2006 and June 6, 2006. Golden Valley Mines is operator of the exploration programs for the first three years. Ditem may acquire a 50% interest in the property by spending $1 million over the next three years, which can be increased to 60% by spending $2 million in the fourth year.
